

Avista receives commission approval of settlement in Washington electric and natural gas general rate cases

12/14/22

Customers will benefit from tax credits that will partially offset rate increases over two years

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 13, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Avista's (NYSE: AVA) electric and natural gas general rate cases have concluded, with an order from the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission (Commission or UTC) that approved the multi-party settlement filed in June 2022.

The Commission approved increases of annual electric revenues of $38 million effective Dec. 21, 2022 and $12.5 million effective Dec. 21, 2023 and increases in annual natural gas revenues of $7.5 million effective Dec. 21, 2022 and $1.5 million effective Dec. 21, 2023. To reduce the overall impact of these increases on customers, the Commission approved the use of a Residual Tax Customer Credit that will be returned to customers over a two-year period. The credit will provide benefits of $27.6 million for electric customers and $12.5 million for natural gas customers.

The Commission approved a rate of return (ROR) on rate base of 7.03%, but the approved settlement did not include an explicit return on equity, cost of debt, or capital structure.

"We are pleased with the Commission's decision in this case as it supports Avista's ongoing investments in the infrastructure that serves our customers," said Avista president and CEO, Dennis Vermillion. "This is a positive outcome that benefits both our customers and shareholders. We take our responsibility to provide safe, reliable energy at an affordable price very seriously, and we will continue to work hard to manage our costs and identify ways to best serve our customers that contribute to keeping energy prices affordable."

Washington Residential Customer Bills
